DCTC's American Welding Society (AWS) Visits C and K Lord

Members of DCTC's American Welding Society (AWS) student chapter were hosted by local welding and fabrication establishment C and K Lord on Tuesday evening, February 6, 2018. Mr. Ken Lord and members of his team gave students an outstanding meeting with experiences, demonstrations, and hands on engagement in stainless steel orbital welding, CNC Laser cutting and CNC Press brake operations, along with information on how computer programs such as "Solidworks" are helping companies save time, cost, and increase productivity. The Seniors in the AWS student chapter meet monthly and make industry visits to several local businesses every year, and Mr. Lord is a generous supporter of the program. C and K Lord celebrates 70 years in business this year.

February is Career and Technology Education month and experiences with employers such as the student chapter and C and K Lord show how education can become a full circle for success.
