Dorchester Career and Technology Center Honors Terminally Ill Pediatric Patient

Medical Services students used their artistic abilities to help honor the wishes of a terminally ill pediatric patient. Jacob Thompson, 9 years-old, has been diagnosed with Stage 4 neuroblastoma. He wants people across the world to celebrate Christmas early this year by sending him homemade “Christmas” cards.

Medical Services students have learned about the need for compassion, comfort, and care when caring for hospice patients. Cards are on the way to Portland, Maine with words of support for both the patient and parents.
