Hurlock Elementary School's 4th Graders Impress During Second Annual Wax Museum

Hurlock Elementary was recently visited by some well-known figures: George Washington Carver, Pocahontas, Amelia Earhart, Michelle Obama, and Clara Barton. Closer examination revealed that these important historical and current figures were, in fact, HES 4th graders who had chosen to impersonate them for the school's second annual Wax Museum. The children dressed as their chosen person, displayed information about them on a poster board, and shared a short excerpt from their research. The presentations were enjoyed by staff and family members and was put together by teachers Ms. Douglas and Ms. Creighton.
