DCPS Winners in American Legion Essay Contest

Winners were recently announced in the Americanism Essay Contest sponsored by the Auxiliary of American Legion Post 91. This year's theme was around how to help homeless veterans.

All first-place winners in four categories come from South Dorchester School: Peyton Bleyer, Tyler Sears, Lily Spedden, and Blaine Coleman.

There were second place winners in three categories: Jacob Conn from Sandy Hill Elementary School, Isabelle Hughes, and Stephen LeCompte, both from South Dorchester School.

South Dorchester School also produced the three third place winners: Ariel Stewart, Kennedy Roberts, and J.J. Springer.

The winners had the opportunity to receive their awards and read their essays at an event held at the American Legion Post 91 on Monday, April 1.
