Dorchester Career and Technology Center Developing Partnerships

The Dorchester Career and Technology Center has formed a new partnership with the Dorchester County Sheriff's Office. As part of that new partnership, Sheriff James Phillips recently visited the school to address the public health issue of human trafficking with students in the Medical Services, Homeland Security, and Interactive Media programs. Students were made aware of the effects of human trafficking on Maryland's Eastern Shore and how to identify red flags to keep themselves safe.

Sheriff Phillips will be making future visits to discuss community issues that have an impact on students.
